- - March 20 - Spring begins
"Drenching the pavement, warming the wall, bathing the cat in a slumbering sprawl . . . Waking the buds that break from the tree. Shaking out gold, and all for free." - - Tony Milton, Poet

As we begin this new decade, I do so with a real determination, a feeling of optimism, a feeling of extreme gratitude, and with a determination to continue the direction we are taking our city.

These have been very difficult and trying times for us. The economy has taken a toll on our ability to provide the services each of you deserve and expect. We have fewer employees than we did two years ago. Our budgets have been reduced significantly. As we, along with each of you, struggle with the recession however, we have become better at what we do. Our employees have accepted the challenge to do more with less, and do it even though our responsibilities have continued to grow. That's what successful organizations do, when things get challenging, they just get better. Does that mean the worst is over? I don't believe it is, I agree with those that say the recovery will take time. I see the revenue numbers every day. While there is improvement, it continues to be small and gradual. The important thing is, I've learned some lessons with the economic down turn that will serve me well in the future. As we go forward we will keep our budgets fiscally conservative. Interestingly, there are those who have criticized me for being too conservative. But I can stand here today without hesitation and say to each of you my being conservative was absolutely essential in our ability to deal with this extreme recession and not have it negatively affect each of you as it relates to public services. I'm proud of the fact that I put the citizens of this community above special interest groups or large capital projects the city cannot afford or be able to maintain.

My optimism comes from the resiliency of this special city. While many other cities in Utah struggled and raised fees and even raised their citizen's taxes, WE DID NOT! We made do with what we had; we made reductions where appropriate and maximized the city's assets. I truly believe that is what my responsibility is. I'm optimistic in the fact that we are now in a better position to move quickly with projects not only in the maintenance of our infrastructure but needed capital projects, when revenues return to some semblance of normalcy. I'm extremely optimistic about the future of our city. We have maintained our position as an important player in economic development. Companies looking to grow and create new job opportunities are still looking to us to meet their needs. We have continued to recruit them, in spite of the downturn in the economy. I believe with the stabilization of the economy will come increased opportunities for companies to locate here. I pledge to each of you to work tirelessly to grow our revenue base, and to create job opportunities for our families.

I'm very grateful to be able to report important projects that were started right after I was elected Mayor have been completed: a significant expansion of the wastewater treatment plant; completion of the very important 1000 North road construction project; an addition of a new well and storage reservoir in the England Acres Park area. Its completion is slated for June of this year and will add additional stabilization to our long term water resources plan; significant upgrades to our existing park areas; and extremely important open space

CLERK'S INSIDER

Recently a number of Tooele County voters have received confirmation notices in the mail asking if they still live at that address. There are a number of things that would precipitate a confirmation notice:

1. Not voting in two general elections;
2. A voter identification card returned undeliverable;
3. The Clerk's Office receiving notification that that voter no longer lives at that address.

Utah State law requires these notifications to make sure that the voters are able to vote if they so choose. They do, however, require that our official registers are as up to date as possible, thus requiring all of these notices. So, while it is frustrating to receive a notice asking if the voter is still at the address they have lived at for 50 years, please know that we are just following the law and trying to keep our records updated.

If voters want to make sure they don't receive these notices, the solution is easy — re-register to vote upon changing addresses and vote every election!

Thanks for voting!
Marilyn Gillette, Tooele County Clerk

preservation, especially the areas on the Southeast bench that will preserve the beauty of this city for the generations that will follow us to enjoy.

I'm extremely proud of our accomplishments, especially during the current economic times. There are still significant needs for our city that need to be addressed. Police and fire facilities are major priorities to my administration. Grants have been applied for and alternative financing is currently being looked into, to build these very important and badly needed facilities. Phase two of the wastewater treatment plant will soon follow. Developing the Skyline Park will be planned and phased in.

These are just a few of the capital projects we are working on now, with others to be added as funding is secured.

I'm very grateful to be serving in a time when the future is exciting. There is an impressive quote by a very successful leader that goes something like this "Government should be for the people, by the people" and I've added "it should never be by big political parties or big companies or big developers." I know how very important our work is. There is no personal or political agenda here at City Hall. Decisions are made with these phrases in mind: "Is it the right thing to do?" "Are our decisions making our city better?" Simply put, if I cannot answer those questions with a definite "yes," then we don't do it!

I'm grateful for my time. I pledge to never forget that I represent each of you and this wonderful community. Tooele City will be governed with each of you and your wonderful families in mind. I express my appreciation to my family. I love them very much and I could not do this work without them. I thank my wonderful staff and the many employees that work on your behalf. I thank you for your support and encouragement. I'll continue to work very hard to earn it. Being Mayor is truly a privilege and an honor. Thank you very much.

- - Mayor Patrick Dunlavy
